

PolARTS

PolARTS provides a platform for mutual exchange and interaction between the polar sciences and the arts. Funding is provided to establish collaborations in a transdisciplinary tandem team composed of an artist and a polar researcher.

Participation is open to scientists of all career ages active in polar and high-altitude regions and to artists from all fields. To facilitate the collaborative process, the artist can apply for additional funding in order to accompany the scientist in the field.

PolARTS is a joint initiative of Pro Helvetia and the Swiss Polar Institute (SPI). Projects are selected on the basis of an open call for proposals.
